Bonnie Meade gelding was plunged on, his price being driven down from 20 to 1 to 5 to 1. He was prominent for half a mile, but died away under a pull.

The race resulted in a pretty finish. Curacoa, Discount, Fatality, Joe Ripley and Little Pirate finished in a bunch as hamed, heads apart.

Raceland was a 3 to 5 shot in the second race. He carried none of the Dwyer measy, however, for their commission went on Pickpocket third.

Pickpocket was fast to the head of the stretch, and after being shut off several times managed to get through and secure second place. He was too late, however, to catch Raceland, who won very comfortably.

Reilly was a widower. He had been out of work for more than a year. This fact, together with the death of his two children, made him despondent. Shortly after his mother went to church this morning he took a revolver out of the bureau drawer. His sister saw him and tried to take the weapon from his hand. She said to him:

"Joe, you wouldn't do anything wrong, would you?"

without replying he placed the muzzle of the revolver to his head and fired twice.

He fell to the floor, and his sister ran acreaming from the room.

Her cries aroused the neighbors, who sent for a doctor and a priest, but Reilly was dead before either reached the house.
